MEMORANDUM

Date: February 1, 2002

To: University Faculty

From: Bro. John McGoldrick
Assistant Provost

Subject: Final Examinations—Fall 2002 & Spring 2003

A discussion at a recent meeting of the Academic Affairs Committee focused on several issues related to scheduling and supervision of semester final examinations, among which were:

- The process of collecting scheduling information itself
- The lateness of disseminating this information of students

The Provost would like to have input from you on the overall process of the scheduling of examinations, the goal being to publish an examination schedule by no later than the end of September (for Fall semester exams) or the first or second week of February (for Spring exams). We are considering a process where all faculty will be asked to indicate on their syllabi if a final exam is to be given during exam week. The Chair would collect this information and in turn send a summary to the Registrar who, in turn, will publish an exam schedule much earlier than at present.

While a response via paper memo is fine, an e-mail (mcgoldri@lasalle.edu) and/or digital document would be more valuable, as these formats would allow for easier collection and editing. In any case, I would appreciate a response by the close of business on Friday, February 8, 2002.

Thank you.

Minutes of the Curriculum Committee Meeting November 20, 2001

The meeting was called to order at 1:00 PM

Members present: J. Baky, R. Bush, J. Cicala, S. DeTurk, D. Galante, E. Giardino, M. McManus, M. Moreau, A. O'Connor, H. Sharpler, M. Soven, W. Weaver, J. Welsh, S. Wiley

Guests: Dr. Arleen Dallery, Dr. Joseph Volpe

Minutes of the November 2, 2001 meeting were approved as written (8-0-3).

Dr. Margot Soven presented a progress report on the Core Curriculum.

In 2001-2002, all components of the new core are being implemented.

A three-day summer doubles workshop focused on "deepening the connections" in the doubles courses.

Faculty in three of the doubles developed customized texts to accompany their doubles. Dr. Soven indicated that developing customized texts would probably be the focus of next summer's workshop.

There is a new part-time staff position, Programming Coordinator. The Program Coordinator, Ms Megan Cahill, is responsible for helping arrange field trips and presentations related to the core. Field trips are being scheduled more efficiently and are more cost effective (i.e. two classes can take a trip together and share a bus.)

Freestanding sections of the FYO are being piloted in Fall 2001. Freestanding sections allow staff members, as well as faculty, to teach the FYO and freestanding sections are easier to schedule.

The Advisory Board has recommended that most doubles be constructed from just a few subject areas—Composition, Philosophy, Religion, History and Psychology. The first four areas are included in the powers or gateway courses. Psychology has been suggested because of the large numbers of students who elect psychology. It has proved difficult to roster doubles in core areas in which students are offered a choice of courses from different disciplines (e.g. the choice between political science and economics).

The Advisory Board has approved a budget request for six non-tenure track permanent positions to be dedicated to the doubles. The majority of doubles sections have been taught by adjuncts and this has made it difficult to gain continuity in the doubles program. Dr. Soven stated that faculty need time to learn how to teach the doubles, and turnover is detrimental to the quality of the program.

The Advisory Board is currently developing guidelines for independent projects related to the Understanding at Home and Abroad requirements. A question was raised as to whether the guidelines would be brought to the Curriculum Committee. Dr. Soven offered to bring the guidelines first to the Arts & Sciences Core Curriculum Committee and then to the University Curriculum Committee.

A suggestion was made that a Curriculum Committee meeting be devoted to reviewing issues related to the core.

Representing the Philosophy Department, Dr. Joseph Volpe and Dr. Arleen Dallery presented three curricular proposals.

1. Retire PHL 305, Philosophy of Communism. The course is no longer timely. Karl Marx would be included in the list of thinkers periodically rotated through the Great Philosophers series (PHL 330-336).
2. Create PHL 306, Environmental Philosophy. The deterioration of our natural environment and our relationship to that environment is a growing area of interest. The course has run three times as a special topics course and could be an important component of the environmental studies program.
3. Create PHL 339, Gender, Body, and Culture to replace PHL 338, Concepts of Liberation: Women and Men. The concept of liberation in PHL 338 reflected feminist thought at the time that the course was created. The proposed course presents the current state of gender studies.

A question was raised about course prerequisites. The PHL 306 proposal lists PHL 151 or PHL 152 (or permission of the chair) as a prerequisite and PHL 339 lists one course in philosophy as a prerequisite and recommends one course in Women's Studies (preferably WST 201). Concerns were raised as to whether the prerequisites would limit enrollment and in particular, whether the recommendation for a WST course would affect the potential audience for PHL 339. The presenters indicated that the prerequisite for PHL 306 was suggested by the A&S Curriculum Committee. The Philosophy Department had proposed the prerequisites for PHL 339, although the specific recommendation that the WST course be WST 201 came from the A&S Curriculum Committee. The presenters recommended the one-course PHL prerequisite due to the advanced nature of the course content. The prerequisites would also tend to steer freshmen away from the course so that the course could be directed toward upper classmen.

M. Soven recommended dropping the recommendation that students take WST 201 before taking PHL 339. She felt that the recommendation might discourage students who were interested in the course from enrolling. There was general agreement on this point from the rest of the committee.

There was more general discussion about prerequisites for 300-level PHL courses. Currently, students are not required to take a 100-level PHL course before enrolling in a 300-level course. M. Moreau stated that the Philosophy Department might need to review the prerequisite requirements for all 300-level courses in order to have consistency on prerequisites.

The Curriculum Committee voted on the Philosophy Department proposals:

1. To accept Proposal 1 (retire PHL 305) as written (9-0-0)
2. To accept Proposal 2 (create PHL 306) as written (9-0-0)
3. To accept Proposal 3 (create PHL 339) after deleting the recommendation of a WST course from the course prerequisites (9-0-0)

The meeting adjourned at approximately 2:30.

To: The La Salle University Community

From: James W. Smither, Ph.D.
Professor, Management, and Chair, Strategic Planning Task Force

As Br. Michael noted in his recent letter to the University community, a Strategic Planning Task Force (SPTF) has been charged by University Council to develop a new, formal strategic planning document for La Salle. (Please see the attachment for a list of Task Force members and their affiliations). On behalf of the SPTF, I write to you now to report on the scope of our work, our progress to date and our need for your on-going support.

It is important to state right away that the role of the SPTF is not to determine the future strategic direction of the University. Br. Michael has already done that, in consultation with our Board of Trustees, through his Vision Statement, which challenges the University to achieve success in five broad areas. As University Council has directed, the role of SPTF is to identify and prioritize the specific goals and objectives that will help La Salle turn that vision for success into concrete reality. In the document, we also must establish clear lines of responsibility for each goal, setting time lines and performance measures as well.

To develop this important, detailed document, SPTF is working closely with Br. Michael and the heads of Athletics, Academic Administration, Business Affairs, Enrollment Services and Advancement. We are in the process of learning about the strategic plans of each of these areas, with the aim of integrating and distilling that information into a "vital few," university-wide objectives along with a list of actions needed to achieve them. The planning document we develop will also reflect the top priorities of the University's recently completed Master Facilities Plan and the financial priorities established by the University's Board of Trustees. In addition, we hope to include a list of the University's accomplishments under its current strategic plan.

As we gather all this information and otherwise educate ourselves about aspects of planning already going on throughout the University, the SPTF is in no way acting as an evaluator or an auditor. Our aim is solely to become as well informed as possible so that the final planning document properly reflects reality.

In the coming weeks, we will be meeting with other groups and individuals. For example, we would like to meet with the Faculty Senate and a group of student leaders. In addition, we will schedule an open forum, where all members of the University community can ask questions or offer comments and suggestions.

We hope to have essentially completed the information-gathering phase by the end of February, with a preliminary draft document going to University Council for review by early spring, followed by an initial Board of Trustees review in May.

To produce a truly beneficial planning document within this time frame, the SPTF requests the on-going cooperation and assistance of the entire University community. Good planning is a dynamic process, enhanced by input from and dialogue with all areas of our institution. To that end, I also invite you to contact the SPTF through me (tel: 215-951-1797 / e-mail: Smither@lasalle.edu) with your questions and/or suggestions.

Clearly it is also important that SPTF takes the initiative in communicating periodically with the University about its progress and we intend to do so. The Task Force met three times in November-December and has had weekly meetings since the New Year. These will continue through the Spring semester. Progress to date includes:

- Development of a detailed format for the formal, written strategic planning document;
- Informational meetings in January with the administrative heads of Advancement, Business Affairs, Enrollment Services, and Athletics as well as Academic and Student Affairs;
- Collection of a substantial amount of published information from various areas of the University relevant to the goals set out in Br. Michael's Vision Statement;
- Compilation of the University's achievements under its current Strategic Plan.

With the information gathering phase of our work continuing and the integration/prioritization phases still ahead, the SPTF has much to do and a fairly short time frame in which to do it. On behalf of the Task Force members, I want to thank the La Salle community for its support of the work we've undertaken at the University's request. Your cooperation with and engagement in the strategic planning process will help give La Salle an action plan for greatness that will serve us all well in the years ahead.

Sincerely,

James W. Smither

Dear Faculty & Staff:

As the Programming Coordinator in the Division of Student Affairs, I am the chairperson for Who's Who Among Students In American Universities and Colleges Committee for LaSalle University.

Last year several deserving students received recognition from Who's Who Among Students In American Universities and Colleges. La Salle University has had a proud tradition of nominating students who embody the spirit of our community. These people are outstanding students, leaders, and/or paraprofessionals.

I am asking you to nominate students for this prestigious award. Eligible student must have junior or senior year status. Graduate students are also eligible to be nominated. Students who are nominated should be academically sound and have a history of serving their community, or working to improve the world in which they live. This may seem like a daunting task but I am sure there are students who come to mind as you read this letter. Please send your nominations to me via email with the name of the student or students you are nominating.

The nominated students will be selected through a committee comprised of students, faculty and staff from LaSalle University. Letters will be sent to all the students who participated regarding their status in terms of selection for the program. The results of the committee's findings will be forwarded to the representatives from the Who's Who Among Students In American Universities and Colleges Program. The students who are selected for recognition will be honored at an awards ceremony in the Spring Semester.

All nominations should be received by via email or campus mail (University Life Box 835) by February 19, 2002. Please include the full name of the student(s) you are nominating. Please join us in continuing this tradition at LaSalle University by nominating the students you feel deserve this recognition. Thank you for your support in this endeavor.

Sincerely,

ATTENTION FACULTY- A REMINDER

We are pleased to announce that the School of Arts and Sciences in conjunction with the Honors Program will bring Parnassus Productions back to the campus this February. You might recall their extremely well received visit last February when they presented "Legacy of Galileo" to a full house in the Rodden Theatre. It was the success of this visit that prompted the invitation to return.

This year's production in the Encounters with Genius Series will be "Legacy of Da Vinci". Using the same format as with Galileo, Rusty Bynum will lead the audience through many fascinating years of reminiscences as Leonardo begins the final chapter of his life as an advisor and teacher in the French Court.

Please announce the following to your students:

DATE: THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 7TH, 2002

"Legacy of DaVinci"

by Rusty Bynum

The second installment in our Encounters with Genius Series, "Legacy of DaVinci" is a compelling biographical drama that leads the audience through many fascinating years of reminiscences as Leonardo begins the final chapter of his life as an advisor and teacher in the French Court.

Leonardo da Vinci is the Renaissance man.

Leonardo da Vinci was an artist, sculptor, inventor, scientist, anatomist, military engineer, architect, medical illustrator, botanist, cartographer, musician, composer, courtier, and philosopher. He was a man of contradictions and complications, a visionary who saw what mankind could become, a cynic who bemoaned mankind's follies, an arrogant courtier who was plagued by self-doubt. His painting of The Last Supper is hailed as the most important painting in Christendom. His Mona Lisa is the most famous painting of a woman in the history of the Western world.

Though Leonardo da Vinci was a vegetarian who believed in the sanctity of all life, he invented the world's most effective killing machines.

Though he was so strong he could bend a horseshoe with one bare hand, he refused to fight or even raise a hand against another human being.

Though he was the illegitimate son of a peasant girl, he rose to positions of prominence and fame in the courts of kings and rulers.

Though he never engaged in commerce, he invented machines that would weave cloth, make rope, make needles, fabricate files and rasps, and mint coins.

And even though Leonardo da Vinci never attended a secondary school or university, his illustrations of the anatomy of the human body have been used in textbooks for over four hundred years.

Roy Henderson's solo performance in Legacy of da Vinci transports his audience back to the fifteenth century, when the birth of Leonardo da Vinci hailed the dawn of the Renaissance. Henderson's portrayal of da Vinci brings to life the man and his time—with all its brilliance, contradictions, glory and conflict. Award-winning playwright Rusty Bynum has devoted years of research to produce Legacy of da Vinci: an historically accurate, dramatically gripping portrait of Leonardo da Vinci.
